

An estimated 1.9 million American children travel internationally each year, and the number is increasing. In general, children face most of the same health risks as their parents, but the consequences can be more serious. Some conditions can be difficult to recognize in children, especially in those who aren't talking yet. If you are planning to travel to another country with your kids, be familiar with the risks of travel to help them stay safe and healthy.

Please provide the completed form when making your travel visit appointment with our providers.

- What country & specific cities within that country will you be visiting?
- What is the length of your trip?
- What type of accommodations will you staying in?
- What type of activities are planned?
- What is your current medical condition? Please provide vaccine history and any significant medical history.

We hope you enjoy your trip !!!